Mimi McKenzie, Legal Director/Pro Bono Contact: lalmeida@pubintl.org

Mission: The Public Interest Law Center uses high-impact legal strategies to advance the civil, social, and economic rights of communities in the Philadelphia region facing discrimination, inequality, and poverty. We use litigation, community education, advocacy, and organizing to secure access to fundamental resources and services.

Description of Cases Handled: We combine targeted litigation, legal advice, community education, advocacy, and organizing to secure people's access to fundamental resources and services, including a high-quality education, health care, housing and community services, employment, a healthy neighborhood and the unencumbered right to vote. We strongly value equity, inclusion, achieving racial and social justice, and empowering client communities through our high impact work.

Volunteer Opportunities for Lawyers: Partner on a large, class action lawsuit, which usually requires the commitment of multiple lawyers over an extended period of time. Lawyers working on these cases will gain the full range of experience: motions and pleadings practice; discovery, including depositions; working with experts and document review; and oral arguments and trial. In addition, through the Public Interest Law Center's Garden Justice Legal Initiative, we are seeking attorneys to provide pro bono legal support to gardens and gardeners throughout Philadelphia so they can gain long-term access to land. We use a variety of tactics including litigation to quiet title to land, advocacy with the City and the Land Bank to obtain legal title to land or in some cases to obtain leases for land. The Law Center does not have the capacity to take on all of this work so we provide trainings and support to pro-bono lawyers to represent clients in preserving gardens and green space. Prepare amicus briefs on issues that pertain to our work. At times the Law Center is the client and at other times interested organizations wish to be heard in the Law Center's cases. Provide research on targeted factual or policy, defined legal issues to support the Law Center's advocacy and training initiatives. Participate in strategic planning sessions—policy circles—to help focus and guide the Law Center's work in the future. Contribute business/corporate/employment law expertise to the Law Center.

Volunteer Opportunities for Non-Lawyers, Emeritus and Inactive Lawyers: Volunteers welcomed with all levels of experience to assist in administrative tasks, including: organizing, indexing and reviewing documents; preparing exhibits, scanning documents; filing; data entry; and client intake and referrals.
