

That Was Then

2005 – Summer Sports Fundraisers

The summer of 2005 saw members of the Philadelphia Bar Association take it outside to participate in sports-themed fundraisers, which raised over $150,000 for the American Cancer Society and Philadelphia Bar Foundation.

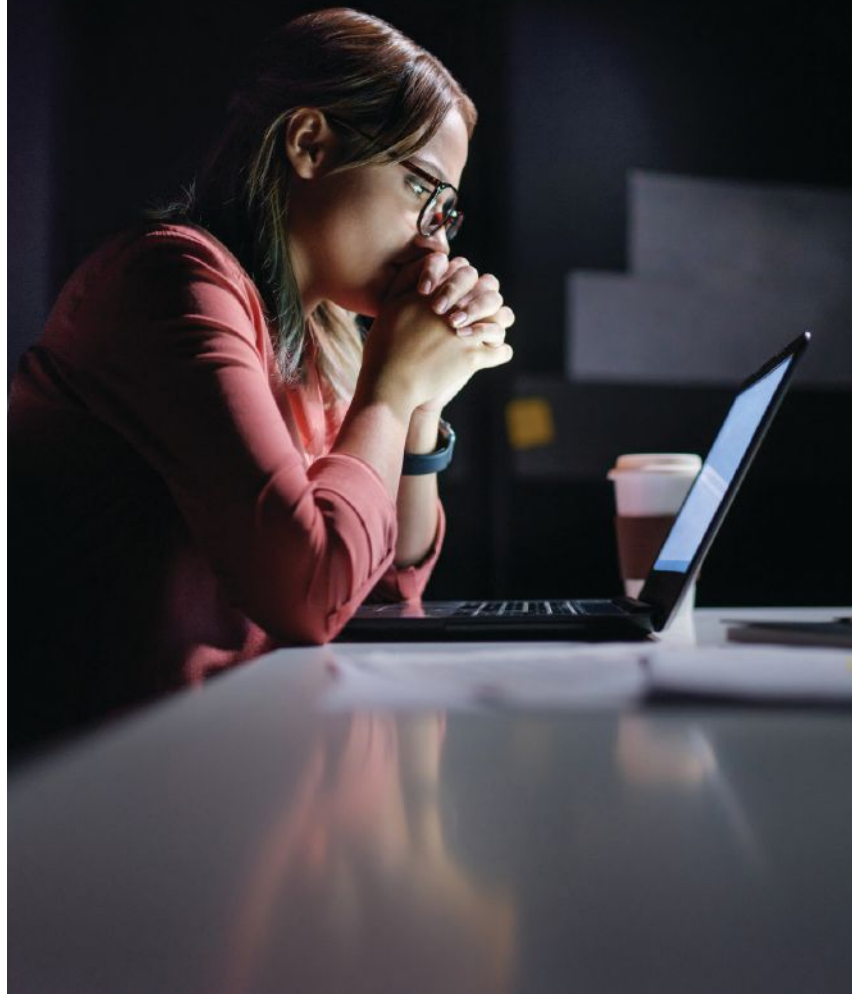

On July 10, 2005, the American Cancer Society held a Bike-a-Thon where more than 150 people rode for the Philadelphia Bar Association's team, raising more than $77,000 to help fight cancer. With hundreds of riders participating in the 62.5-mile ride from Philadelphia to Mays Landing, N.J., the event displayed the warm and promising support from Philadelphia's legal community.

On June 27, 2005, nearly 140 golfers raised more than $75,000 at the Philadelphia Bar Foundation's 17th Annual Golf Outing. The event was held by the Philadelphia Cricket Club in Flourtown, Pa. and included a barbeque lunch, cocktails, dinner and dessert on the patio at the Cricket Club. The purpose of the event was to raise money for local legal services organizations.

DO YOU REALLY
WANT TO DO THIS ALONE?

+ No one anticipated the length of this pandemic or the magnitude of this case. You have no idea when either will end. Times are tough. This is a lot for one firm to shoulder alone.

If you would like to partner up, call us. We have settled many, many millions of dollars of cases during the pandemic, and we can help with this one.
