Wednesday, May 26 – Noon

Philadelphia Bar Association, 1101 Market St., 11th Fl. Conference Center
Sponsored by the Philadelphia Bar Association's Bar-News Media Committee
Chair, Arline Jolles Lotman

Co-Sponsored by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, Mid-Atlantic Chapter

Have the media skewed the message of the women's movement and effectively undermined the movement's agenda and the legal rights of women? If so, what are the repercussions for the law, the workplace, politics and the broader society? How has this affected the plight of women in the workplace, the goal of equal pay for equal work, the advocacy of related issues and the perception of feminist leaders? How have the courts and legislatures reacted to the media's characterization of the women's movement? Have they effectively narrowed or expanded laws affecting women? Join us for a panel discussion featuring professionals with first-hand knowledge of the issues.
